Insurance

The doctors at Canyonlands are considered out of network providers. While insurance is not billed by our clinic, we can provide you with a superbill that includes the necessary coding that insurance companies require.

Depending on your plan and the coverage your insurance provides, insurance should apply the costs of your visit to your deductible or provide you with reimbursement.

Medicaid and most Medicare plans do not cover our services. Some Medicare Advantage plans may provide limited coverage for Naturopathic services. Please contact your insurance company for more information on their coverage.

Labs

Lab Service Fees

Our clinic assesses a $30 fee for blood collection services. This fee is for the provider's time to draw blood, process tests and complete paperwork. This fee does not include the cost of any lab tests.

In Network Labs

Some labs can be billed through your insurance when sent to an in-network lab such as LabCorp or Quest. Normal, standard of care labs that are similar to what your PCP runs in a yearly visit or those that are medically necessary for your health condition would be eligible to use your insurance.

Insurance billing does not guarantee coverage. Some testing may still be denied by your insurance company, even if sent to an in-network lab. Labs are always billed based upon your insurance coverage. We suggest you contact your insurance to understand your lab coverage for in-network and out-of-network labs.

Self Pay Billing Through our Clinic

Any testing that may be subject to a denial can be paid for directly through our clinic as a "self-pay" lab. This is preferable when there is a question of medical necessity, or if the lab is on a "for your information" type of basis.

For individuals without insurance or not desiring to bill insurance, we have affordable options to pay for labs directly through our account instead of billing insurance.

Out of Network Labs

Specialty laboratory testing is generally considered “out-of-network” and is not covered by insurance. In some cases, these labs can be billed to insurance, but this is not generally advisable. Your provider will discuss the best approach regarding how to pay for each individual lab that may be indicated for your care.

Examples of out-of-network labs include: stool testing, saliva testing, certain types of hormone testing, lyme disease testing, heavy metal tests in hair or urine, mycotoxins and mold exposure tests, food sensitivity testing, genetic testing, breath testing for SIBO or carbohydrate malabsorption, and more. Please note this list is not exhaustive, and many other functional tests exist. When in doubt, ask your provider about the insurance status of these test.

Estimates for a set of labs would be between $150 for limited labwork and $2000 for comprehensive testing.

Estimates of laboratory test fees:

- Stool testing: $400-500
- SIBO Breath testing: $225-400
- Food sensitivity testing: $169-450
- Genetic testing: $200-500
- Mycotoxins: $300-500
- Thyroid testing: $100-300
- General lab screening: For self pay, $100-500. For insurance billing, typically the cost is a percentage of the total lab fees, or whatever amount your insurance company agrees in your plan document.

Imaging

Imaging is highly variable and difficult to estimate. The facility and its in-network or out-of-network status has a huge impact on costs for imaging.

Some basic estimates in a range of possible costs, from varying facilities:

X Ray: $60-250

CT Scan without contrast: $400-2,000

CT Scan with contrast: $500-2,500

MRI without contrast, single area: $400-3,000

MRI with contrast, single area: $600-3,500

Some imaging tests are covered by insurance. Select Health limits our ability to order imaging tests, and we cannot provide orders for imaging through any Intermountain Healthcare facility, as they will not schedule our orders. Please note that if you have Select Health insurance, you would be best to retain a primary care doctor who can perform imaging orders for you.

Administrative Fees

Our providers can provide administrative services such as letters, medication refills outside of a visit, and laboratory orders outside of a visit. Generally routine services are billed at $30 per letter or task.

For more comprehensive and involved tasks such as filing FMLA or writing more comprehensive letters, our fees are based upon time spent, and will mirror those of a visit fee for longer services provided. We commonly recommend scheduling a visit to
